Title of Position: Consultant Psychiatrist in the Psychiatry of Old Age

Competition ID: 8830

HSE Reference: POOA6462

Department/Office: HSE Dublin & South East

Details of Service
The Psychiatry of Later Life (POLL) services in Carlow Kilkenny (CKK) currently provide diagnostic, treatment and specialist care services to older people (currently aged 65 and over) presenting for the first time with mental health problems, who live in CKK.

There are 2 teams and they are community based services, with their central hub located on the grounds of St Canices Hospital. The main focus of work is on domiciliary visits (including nursing homes) and outpatient clinics. There is a strong emphasis on multidisciplinary team working. This emphasis also applies to those patients who are unwell enough to require admission to one of the Approved Centres, subject to the Mental Health Act, and who remain under their care during their admission.

The National Clinical Programme for Older People, under the Mental Health section has developed a Model of Care which describes the service required for liaison to acute hospitals and to Nursing Homes. St Luke's is the busiest level 3 hospital in the country in terms of medical admissions with 54746 ED attendances last year and 13829 medical discharges. At present, there is no dedicated Psychiatry of Later Life Liaison service in St Luke's Hospital, Thus, older people presenting with, or admitted to hospital with co-morbid physical and mental ill-health are falling into a significant gap in service provision. A consultation service is provided by the community POLL medical staff but this is very limited and patients may have to wait some time to being seen.

In contrast, patients between 18 and 65 years have a better resourced liaison service with 3 CNS and 0.6 WTE NCHD. This is despite the fact that older people are currently admitted to hospital more frequently and for longer periods than any other age group, and this trend is set to increase (HSE, 2019). Currently the POLL community teams provide some support to Nursing Homes and often prevent admission to the acute hospitals. Having dedicated time to provide training to the Nursing Homes and to managing complex cases in the Nursing Homes would significantly improve the care of residents in Nursing Homes and reduce admissions to hospitals and reduce the risk of Nursing Homes refusing to take back the care of patients who present with complex challenges.

Strategic Context – Relevant Policy

The National Service Plan 2021, places emphasis on strategic reform measures which aim to better support our aging population and improve access to mental health services (HSE, 2021). This proposal strongly aligns with both these measures.

- National Service Plan 2021. (HSE, 2021)
- Committee on the Future of Healthcare: Sláintecare Report. (Department of Health, 2017). 3 Specialist Mental Health Services for Older People, National Clinical Programme for Older People: Part 2. (HSE, 2019)
- Mental Health Services for Older People: Mental Health Commission. (Finnerty, 2020)

- A Vision for Change: Report of the Expert Group on Mental Health Policy. (Department of Health, 2006)
- National Clinical Programme for Older People. (HSE, 2012)
- Integrated Care Programmes for Older Persons. (HSE, 2013)
- Working Together, Caring for the Mid-West: UL Hospitals Group Strategic Plan 2018-2022. (HSE, 2018)
- Who cares wins. Improving the outcome for older people admitted to the general hospital: Guidelines for the development of Liaison Mental Health Services for older people. Royal College of Psychiatrists (2005)
- Liaison Psychiatry for every acute hospital Integrated mental and physical health care: College Report CR183. (Royal College of Psychiatrists, 2013) UL Hospitals Group Strategic Framework

The workload of the current Community Psychiatry of Later Life Teams in Carlow Kilkenny will substantially shift towards their intended community population, rather than attempting to provide a service that they cannot effectively deliver, to a very vulnerable population. The referring Medical and Surgical Teams will have on-site access to the POLL Liaison Team and receive essential training and education which could substantially reduce distress for patients, and their length of inpatient stay. There would be similar advantages for people in Nursing Homes.

The post holder will arrange assessment and suggest treatment on the medical and surgical wards of St Luke's and also to the CKK Nursing Homes.

Team base will be located in St. Canice's Hospital Kilkenny.

About this role

The Psychiatry of Later Life service in CKK was established and resourced as a community-based service and therefore is not in a position to adequately provide this Liaison care. Thus, by necessity, the POLL doctors cannot provide anything other than give basic advice to referring physicians and patients, and arrange follow up in the community if appropriate. Such has been the volume of work involved that in 2020 the consultation service provided by POLL has had to change to a one off consultation model as ongoing review of patients was impossible with the resource constraints. The current consult service provided by POLL is not as safe nor as satisfactory as would be desirable for the patients or for the referring teams. POLL doctors cannot be comprehensive either in their assessments or services offered. All of this is on a backdrop of an already underfunded Psychiatry of Later Life service, and an ever increasing patient population with increased healthcare utilisation.

The needs of this population are being met, or arguably not being met, by an already over-stretched community service. Thus, there is no capacity for anything other than urgent clinical need. No capacity for prevention, early detection, education etc., all of which are essential aspects of an established consultation-liaison service. St Luke's hospital delivers healthcare to a wide catchment area including Carlow, Kilkenny, Kildare, Laois, Wicklow and Tipperary

In terms of Nursing Homes there are 985 beds across the two counties, with certain NHs on the county boundaries that admit from a very wide hinterland. This brings specific challenges as the individual history is often not known and they come with limited information as to previous and current issues. The community teams have good links with the NHs, with the discharge planners in ST Luke's and with the NHSS but the addition of a dedicated resource to this part of the health system is really important. Patients in NHs are a very vulnerable population often with very complex are needs and all staff caring for them need a high level of support to meet those care needs.

Having a dedicated POLL Liaison service will reduce will reduce length of stay in the Acute setting, there is also strong evidence that having dedicated POLL liaison service improves morbidity and mortality.

Having dedicated time to provide training to the Nursing Homes and to managing complex cases in the Nursing Homes would significantly improve the care of residents in Nursing Homes and reduce admissions to hospitals and reduce the risk of Nursing Homes refusing to take back the care of patients who present with complex challenges.

The referring Medical and Surgical Teams will have on-site access to the POLL Liaison Team and receive essential training and education which could substantially reduce distress for patients, and their length of inpatient stay. There would be similar advantages for people in Nursing Homes.

The Consultant in POLL Liaison will assess and treat medical and surgical patients as requested by those teams in St Luke's and by GPs for people in NHs, and will refer on to the Community POLL teams as appropriate

The great achievement of modern medicine has been to add years to life. But, the value of adding life to years is arguably more important. Alongside the obvious economic benefits, this shifts the focus to compassionate, patient-centred care. As the population of our older people grows, needs-based and coordinated care is urgently required. Crucially, this approach echoes the wishes of older people themselves. Furthermore it yields the most benefit to them, while also upholding the vision and values of our hospitals group, strengthening the wider healthcare system and ensuring its long-term sustainability.

Mental health difficulties in older people are common and associated with significant morbidity, and mortality. Typically they form part of a complex collection of age-related needs, including physical health and social care. This necessitates the involvement of a wide range of services and healthcare professionals. The WHO has described health services as "fragmented" and "not fit for purpose" (Department of Health, 2017). Thus, it is widely accepted that care must be integrated and multidisciplinary. This is the central tenet of the 'Sláintecare Report'. Integration of service provision, as well as equity of physical and mental health care, are core clinical principles mandated by the interparty, ten year plan. Integration is described as the "glue", bringing together all parts of the system to enable high-quality care (Department of Health, 2017).

By definition, Psychiatry of Later Life Liaison services specialise in the interface between physical and mental health. They provide this "glue" for older people, at a time in hospital and in Nursing Homes when they are suffering with co-morbid physical and mental ill-health and are often at their most vulnerable. It ensures a coordinated, patient-centred approach to care, including safe and efficient discharge planning. At present, there is no specialist Psychiatry of Later Life Liaison service in St Luke's, Kilkenny. This leaves a significant gap in service provision for our older people. It is entirely at odds with the objectives of Sláintecare, the National Clinical Programme for Older People (NCPOP) (HSE, 2012) and the Integrated Care Programmes for Older Persons (ICPOP) (HSE, 2013). Its importance has been outlined in the Model of Care for Specialist Mental Health Services for Older People (HSE, 2019) and recommended by the Mental Health Commission in a recently published report on Mental Health Services for Older People (Finnerty, 2020).

It is notable that the Covid-19 pandemic has disproportionally affected older people. In doing so it has shone a light on the underdevelopment of our healthcare system in addressing their particular needs. The risks that older people are currently facing are not new. The UN Secretary General has urged nations not to treat older people as “invisible” (UN, 2020a). Yet, research in Ireland has shown that when it comes to interacting with the health system older people do not always have their needs met.

This is a new service development in Liaison psychiatry for Old Age, performance measurement KPIs are currently being devised. Performance indicators and outcome measures will be developed and tested to reflect service provision by all stakeholders involved.

Candidates with Disabilities
Attracting candidates from all sectors of society to ensure accessible routes to career opportunities is a key priority of publicjobs. We are committed to equality of opportunity for all candidates.

If you have a disability or need reasonable accommodations made during the selection process, (e.g. for interview, assessments or exercises), we strongly encourage you to share this with us so that we can ensure you get the support you need.

Reasonable accommodation in our selection process refers to adjustments and practical changes which would enable a disabled candidate to have an equitable opportunity for this competition. We can provide accommodations for any stage of the process, including online assessments, interviews or exercises. Examples of adjustments we provide include the use of assistive technology, extra time, scribes and/or readers or a range of other accommodations.

Please be assured that having a disability or requiring adjustments will not impact on your progress in the selection process; you will not be at a disadvantage if you disclose your disability or requirements to us. Your disability and/or adjustments will be kept entirely confidential.

Should you be successful, the disclosure of a disability for this stage of the process will not be passed onto the employing department unless you request that we do so.

If you indicate on your application form that you require reasonable accommodations, you will have the following option:

A. If you have been provided with reasonable accommodations from publicjobs in the last three years, you should input the details of the most recent competition for which you were assigned accommodations along with your Candidate ID

OR

B. You will need to upload a psychologist/medical report as part of your application, which details your disability/requirements.

We require a report to better understand your disability and requirements. The report, in addition to your request, helps us determine what accommodations may be suitable for you, in the selection process.

The reports will only be shared with our Assessment Services Unit. In the reports, it is useful for us to see the outcome of any diagnostic tests conducted by your psychologist/doctor, and their summary of recommendations in relation to your requirements. You may redact (block out) parts of medical reports/psychologist's reports that you feel are sensitive or unnecessary for the decision to make reasonable adjustments.

Please do not email your medical/psychologist's report to us – it should be uploaded directly to your online application.

Should you have any difficulty with uploading your report, please contact mcr1@publicjobs.ie publicjobs will ensure that your reasonable accommodations are implemented as necessary, for each stage of the recruitment process.

If you have any queries about the reasonable accommodations process or the accommodations you have received, please contact asu@publicjobs.ie.

If you wish to discuss any matter relating to the accessibility of our services or building, or if you require support from our Disability Champion, Amanda Kavanagh, please contact edi@publicjobs.ie

Selection Methods
The selection may include:

- shortlisting of candidates on the basis of the information contained in their application, against set criteria based on the requirements of the position
- competitive preliminary interview
- completion of online questionnaire(s)
- presentation or other exercises
- a final competitive interview
- Any other tests or exercises that may be deemed appropriate

Shortlisting
The number of applications received for a position generally exceeds that required to fill existing and future vacancies. While a candidate may meet the eligibility requirements of the competition, if the numbers applying are such that it would not be practical to interview everyone, publicjobs may decide that a smaller number will be invited to the next stage of the selection process. publicjobs provide for the employment of a shortlisting process to select a group who, based on an examination of the application forms, appear to be the most suitable for the position. This is not to suggest that other candidates are necessarily unsuitable or incapable of undertaking the job, rather that there are some candidates, who based on their application, appear to be better qualified and/or have more relevant experience. During shortlisting, an expert board will examine the application forms against agreed shortlisting criteria which are based on the requirements of the position. The standard of content of each application submitted may also be assessed during this process. The shortlisting criteria may include both essential and desirable criteria specified for the position and, it is therefore in your own interest to provide a detailed and accurate account of your qualifications/ experience in your application. The onus is on candidates to complete the application form fully and accurately. In the case of competitions that may involve large numbers of candidates, candidates may be ranked on the outcome of their online assessment tests and will be shortlisted in accordance with their ranking. Applicants must successfully compete and be placed highest, to be considered for advancement to the next stage of the multistage selection process. The number to be invited forward at each stage will be determined from time to time by publicjobs.

Failure to include information regarding these requirements may result in you not being called forward to the next stage of the selection process.

References
Please provide details of 2 people who would be suitable referees and that we might consult (2 names and contact details). The referees do not have to include your current employer but should be in a position to provide a reference for you, these referees must be members of the profession, who directly supervised you. The referees should be able to provide relatively recent information on your performance and behaviour in a work context. Please be assured that we will only contact referees should you be invited to interview stage. Please note, should you be successful at interview, we will require a reference from your current employer prior to recommendation for appointment.

Admission to a competition
The admission of a person to a campaign, or invitation to attend an interview or a successful letter, is not to be taken as implying that publicjobs are satisfied that such person fulfils the requirements of the competition or is not disqualified by law from holding the position and does not carry a guarantee that your application will receive further consideration. It is important, therefore, for you to note that the onus is on you to ensure that you meet the eligibility requirements for the competition before attending for interview. If you do not meet these essential entry requirements but nevertheless attend for interview you will be putting yourself to unnecessary expense.

Security Clearance
You will be required to complete and return a Garda eVetting form should you come under consideration for appointment. This form will be forwarded to An Garda Síochána for security checks on all Irish and Northern Irish addresses at which you resided. If you subsequently come under consideration for a position in another recruitment competition within 6 months of being vetted by publicjobs, please notify us as you may not be required to complete a further Garda Vetting Form.

If you have resided / studied in countries outside of the Republic of Ireland for a consecutive period of 12 months or more after the age of 18, it is mandatory for you to furnish a Police Clearance Certificate from those countries. You will need to provide a separate Police Clearance Certificate for each country you have resided in. The clearance must be dated after the date you left the country. It is your responsibility to seek security clearances in a timely fashion as they can take some time. You cannot be appointed without this information being provided and deemed satisfactory by publicjobs.

Candidates should be aware that any information obtained in the Garda Vetting process can be made available to the employing authority.

Candidates will be responsible for any expense incurred in connection with obtaining any Police Clearance Certificates.

EXPOSURE PRONE PROCEDURE POSTS
Pre-employment medical screening of health care workers, who perform Exposure Prone Procedures (EPP's) as part of their work, is carried out in accordance with Department of Health Guidance 2005. This guidance is contained in the Department of Health's Document 'Prevention of Blood Borne Diseases in the Health-Care Setting'. This document can be obtained at www.dohc.ie or by contacting the Department of Health (00353-1-6354000)

The successful candidate must provide satisfactory documentary evidence that they is not an infectious carrier of the Hepatitis B or Hepatitis C virus. Such documentation would include an original laboratory report or a certified copy (photocopies, faxes, e-mails not acceptable) showing

- Hepatitis B surface antigen (HBs Ag),
- Hepatitis B anti-core antibody (anti- HBc)
- Anti- Hepatitis B surface antibody (Anti HBs).
- Antibodies to Hepatitis C virus and if positive for Hepatitis C virus RNA.

Testing must be done by a designated occupational health service provider which will be determined by publicjobs. Applicants will bear no expense for this testing. Additional visit(s) may be required depending on the test results.

Candidates who are successful at interview may not be made a job offer if they are found to be at risk of potentially transmitting infection to patients, or alternatively they may be appointed subject to certain conditions.

While the guidance does not currently recommend HIV testing at present, it re-iterates Irish Medical Council Ethical Guidelines that any healthcare worker who suspects that s/he may have been exposed to blood borne viruses through work or other risk behaviours must seek professional advice and diagnostic testing. Your attention is drawn to this.

Enquiries
Prior to recommending any candidate for appointment to positions publicjobs or employing organisation will make all such enquiries that are deemed necessary e.g. employer references, to determine the suitability of that candidate. Until all stages of the recruitment process have been fully completed a final determination cannot be made nor can it be deemed or inferred that such a determination has been made.

Specific candidate criteria
In addition to fulfilling the eligibility criteria set out, candidates must:

- Have the knowledge and ability to discharge the duties of the post concerned;
- Be suitable on the grounds of health & character;
- Be suitable in all other relevant respects for appointment to the post concerned;
- If successful, they will not be appointed to the post unless they:
    - Agree to undertake the duties attached to the post and accept the conditions under which the duties are, or may be required to be performed; and
    - Are fully competent and available to undertake, and fully capable of undertaking, the duties attached to the position

Non-Refund of Expenses
Any expenses incurred by candidates whilst undertaking or attending any elements of the selection process will not be refunded.

Deeming of candidature to be withdrawn
Candidates who do not attend for interview when and where required, or do not, when requested, furnish such evidence as required in regard to any matter relevant to their candidature, will have no further claim to consideration.

Appointments from panels
Successful candidates will be placed on a panel from which future vacancies may be filled. Panels usually remain valid for 18 to 24 months, (this is determined at the discretion of publicjobs), from the date of creation or until such time as the panels have been cleared, whichever is the sooner. Placement on a panel is not a guarantee of appointment to a position.

Declining an offer of appointment
Should the person recommended for appointment decline, or having accepted it, relinquish it, or should additional similar vacancies arise, PAS may at its discretion, select and recommend another person for appointment on the results of this selection process.

Confidentiality
Subject to the provisions of the Freedom of Information Act 2014, and any security clearance and/or enquiries, all aspects of the proceedings, to the extent that they are managed by publicjobs or employing organisation, are treated in strict confidence and are not disclosed to anyone outside those directly involved in the selection process.

Quality Customer Service
publicjobs aims to provide an excellent quality service to all our customers. If, for whatever reason, you are unhappy with any aspect of the service you receive from us, we urge you to bring this to the attention of the unit or staff member concerned. This is important as it ensures that we are aware of the problem and can take the appropriate steps to resolve it.

Review and Complaint Procedures under the Code of Practice for Appointments to Positions in the Civil and Public Service

If a candidate is unhappy following the outcome of any stage of a selection process, they can either:

1. Request a Review of a decision made during the process

Or

2. Make a Complaint that the selection process followed was unfair

A candidate can follow either one of the two procedures in relation to the same aspect of a selection process, but not both. Where a review of a selection process has taken place under Section 7 (as detailed below), a complainant may not seek a further review of the same process under Section 8, other than in the most exceptional circumstances that will be determined by the Commission for Public Service Appointments (CPSA) at its sole discretion.

There is no obligation on PAS to suspend an appointment process while a Review or Complaint is being considered. However, the CPSA expects that, where possible, PAS will intervene in cases where it finds an error is likely to have occurred.

Requesting a Review under Section 7

A request for review may be taken by a candidate should they be dissatisfied with an action or decision taken by publicjobs. PAS will consider requests for review in accordance with the provisions of Section 7 of the Code of Practice for Appointments to Positions in the Civil and Public Service published by the CPSA.

When making a request for a review, the candidate must support their request by outlining the facts they believe show that the action taken or decision reached was wrong. A request for review may be refused if the candidate cannot support their request.

The Informal Review will consist of a desk-based examination of any available information in relation to the recruitment process and the decision taken regarding the candidate's application. The outcome of the Informal Review Process will be communicated to the requester in writing.

- A request for Informal Review must be made within 5 working days of notification of the decision, and will normally take place between the candidate and a representative of the PAS who had played a key role in the administration of the selection process.

- Where a candidate remains dissatisfied following any such informal communication, they may adopt the formal procedures set out below.

A request for Formal Review must be made within 5 working days of either the notification of the selection decision, or the notification of the outcome of the Informal Review process. Any extension of these time limits will only be granted in the most exceptional of circumstances and will be at the sole discretion of the Chief Executive.

- The candidate must address their concerns in relation to the process in writing to the Chief Executive (via email to ceomailbox@publicjobs.ie, or in writing to Chief Executive Officer, Public Appointments Service, Chapter House, 26/30 Abbey Street Upper, Dublin 1), outlining the facts that they believe show an action taken or decision reached was wrong.
- The Formal Review will be conducted by a person who is completely independent of the selection process
- The outcome of the Formal Review must generally be notified to the candidate within 25 working days of receipt of the request for review. If the investigation does not produce a decision within this time, PAS must keep the candidate informed of the status of the review and the reasons for the delay.

Making a Complaint under Section 8

A candidate may believe there was a breach of the Commission's Code of Practice by PAS that may have compromised the integrity of the decision reached in the appointment process. The complaints process enables candidates to make a complaint under Section 8 to PAS in the first instance, and to the Commission for Public Service Appointments subsequently on appeal if they remain dissatisfied.

On foot of a Section 8 Complaint process, either PAS or the CPSA may find that the recruitment and selection process in question has not adhered to the standard set out in the Code of Practice. In such cases, PAS and the CPSA may make recommendations in order to prevent such issues from reoccurring again in the future. The CPSA cannot instruct PAS to reverse a decision taken in the course of an appointment process. Any candidate wishing for an investigation into the decision taken regarding their application as part of a selection process should request a Review under Section 7, as outlined above.

The complainant must outline the facts that they believe show that the process followed was wrong. The complainant must also identify the aspect of the Code they believe has been infringed and enclose any relevant documentation that may support the allegation. A complaint may be dismissed if they the complainant cannot support their allegations by setting out how publicjobs has fallen short of the principles of this Code.

The Informal Complaint will consist of a desk-based examination of any available information in relation to the recruitment process. The outcome of the Informal Complaint will be communicated to the requester in writing.

- An Informal Complaint must be made within 5 working days of notification of the decision, and will normally take place between the candidate and a representative of the PAS who had played a key role in the administration of the selection process.
- Where a candidate remains dissatisfied following any such informal communication, they may adopt the formal procedures set out below.

A Formal Complaint must be made within 5 working days of either the notification of the selection decision, or the notification of the outcome of the Informal Complaint. Any extension of these time limits will only be granted in the most exceptional of circumstances and will be at the sole discretion of the Chief Executive.

- The candidate must address their concerns in relation to the process in writing to the Chief Executive (via email to ceomailbox@publicjobs.ie, or in writing to Chief Executive Officer, Public Appointments Service, Chapter House, 26/30 Abbey Street Upper, Dublin 1), outlining the facts that they believe show an action taken or decision reached was wrong.
- The Formal Complaint will be investigated by a person who is completely independent of the selection process
- The outcome of the Formal Complaint must generally be notified to the candidate within 25 working days of receipt of the request for review. If the investigation does not produce a decision within this time, PAS must keep the candidate informed of the status of the review and reason for the delay

For further information on the above Review and Complaint procedures please see the Code of Practice for Appointments to Positions in the Civil and Public Service which is available on the website of the Commission for Public Service Appointments, www.cpsa.ie

Requests for Feedback
Feedback in relation to the selection process is available on request. There are no specific timeframes set for the provision of feedback
Please note that the Review Process as set out in the Code of Practice is a separate process with specified timeframes that must be observed. Receipt of feedback is not required to invoke a review. It is not necessary for a candidate to compile a detailed case prior to invoking the review mechanism. The timeframe set out in the CPSA Code cannot be extended for any reason including the provision of feedback.

During the interview, the PAS Representative will maintain the official record. This involves taking an objective note of questions asked by board members and of the key points/words from candidate answers. While a verbatim account is not expected, the record may be used as an aide-memoire e.g. when evaluating/reflecting back on candidates after the interview; evidence and justification for decisions made; used in the case of a review, appeal or challenge. These notes are releasable to candidates on request.

Following on from each candidate's interview the PAS Representative will record a summary comment representing the consensus view of the Board. The purpose of this summary comment is to provide clear and concise feedback on a candidate's performance at the interview. This must relate to the candidate strengths/ weaknesses as assessed against the key criteria covered at interview. This comment provides specific and meaningful feedback on each candidate reflecting the marks awarded, however, it is not intended to be a mechanism for providing developmental guidance or advice for the candidate. This comment is particularly important where the candidate has been unsuccessful, or whose placing is unlikely to be reached. When requested, this comment will be used to facilitate feedback by PAS to the candidate.

Candidates' Obligations:
Candidates in the recruitment process must not:

- knowingly or recklessly provide false information
- canvass any person with or without inducements
- interfere with or compromise the process in any way

A third party must not impersonate a candidate at any stage of the process

Contravention Code of Practice
Any person who contravenes the above provisions or who assists another person in contravening the above provisions is guilty of an offence. A person who is found guilty of an offence is liable to a fine/or imprisonment.

In addition, if a person found guilty of an offence was, or is a candidate at a recruitment process,

- they will be disqualified as a candidate and excluded from the process;
- has been appointed to a post following the recruitment process, they will be removed from that post.

Candidates should note that canvassing will disqualify
